LINCOLN HEARS PRESIDENT TAFT TALK ON PEACE PACTS WELCOMED BY LA TE OPPONENT

President and Bryan Exchange
Felicitations.

TOASTED BY COMMONER

Executive in Address Becomes so Enthusiased Over Explanation of Arbitration Treaties That He Almost Exceeds Time Limit, and Retires to Wings of Stage Mopping His Brow. Norris Fails to Appear and Keifer Takes His Seat.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 3.—Over a luncheon table President Taft and William J. Bryan clasped hands. The luncheon was given in the president's honor by the Commercial club of Lincoln, and Mr. Bryan sat at the president's right hand and offered the toast that welcomed him to the city. It was a typical bit of Bryan oratory, and at the end the "peerless leader" lugged in a mention of his local option fight by requesting the banqueters to fill their glasses "with the beverage on which the Almighty has set the seal of his approval, and drink a toast to President Taft."

The president replied, speaking of Mr. Bryan as Lincoln's most distinguished citizen. "I have had occasion to say in times past," continued the president, "that there were no roses so beautiful as those that grow over the party wall, and to be received by Mr. Bryan at this time is to me a great pleasure, which I must express." The banqueters cheered lustily as the peerless leader arose to thank the president and to clasp his hand.

Introduced by Aldrich. The address was made at the Auditorium, the speaker being introduced by Governor Aldrich. Senator Brown, former Senator Burket and most of the Republican congressmen from Nebraska were present at the meeting. Representative Norris, the insurgent, who led the fight in the house that clipped Speaker Cannon's wings, was the noticeable absentee. A slip of paper was on each chair in the platform indicating for whom the chair was reserved. One of those near the president bore Norris' name but it was occupied by General Warren Keifer of Ohio, he who up to last year added daily to the dignity of the national house of representatives by appearing in a navy blue dress suit. The general had that same suit on here, by the way, but somehow it does not seem so odd in Nebraska.

BOMBARDMENT STORY IS FAKE

Duke of Abruzzi, One-Time Suitor for Hand of American Heiress, Is Painted as Hero at Battle of Prevesa, Where His Battleships Destroyed Two Little Revenue Cutters and Captured a Third—Austria Shakes Finger at Italy's King.

London, Oct. 3.—News concerning the war between Italy and Turkey is scarce, such dispatches as were received being contradictory and without trustworthiness, beyond the news from Tripoli that the Italian torpedo boat flotilla had attacked three Turkish torpedo boats, sinking two of them. The third, according to the agent of Lloyds at Corfu, was captured. There was no direct news of any consequence concerning the actual progress of the war. The few reports that were received originated either at Rome or Constantinople, and the Italian and Turkish press are both notoriously unreliable.

Actual hostilities seem for the present to be confined to the activities of the torpedo flotilla under the command of the Duke of Abruzzi. Incidentally it may be said that the apparent over zeal of the duke has caused some embarrassment to his government, because of a hint from Vienna in reference thereto. This may be taken for what it is worth. Exactly how many little Turkish victims have fallen before the guns of the duke's ships is not quite clear, nor is it very important. The Roman press, however, prints glowing accounts of the duke's feat at Prevesa.

REAR ADMIRAL SCHLEY

Hero of Santiago Drops
Dead in New York Street.

WAR HERO IS DEAD OF HEART DISEASE

End Comes to Admiral Schley While Walking in Street.

New York, Oct. 3.—Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley, the hero of Santiago bay, retired from active service, dropped dead on Forty-fourth street, near Fifth avenue, here. The admiral has long been suffering from heart disease.

Admiral Schley was one of the most picturesque figures in the American navy. The naval courtmartial where-in were aired his disagreements with Admiral Sampson in the naval engagements off Santiago, Cuba, in the Spanish-American war, served to make him a popular hero.

In recent years Admiral Schley was best known for his championship of Dr. Frederick A. Cook's claim to discovery of the north pole. Schley led the Greely Arctic rescue expedition and was familiar with polar conditions.

Since his retirement from active service, the admiral has lived very quietly in Washington and New York.

Cromwell Dixon Killed In The West

Columbus Boy Aviator Falls Into Railroad Cut.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 3.—The world's youngest aviator, Cromwell Dixon, 19, of Columbus, O., fell to his death here during an exhibition airplane flight.

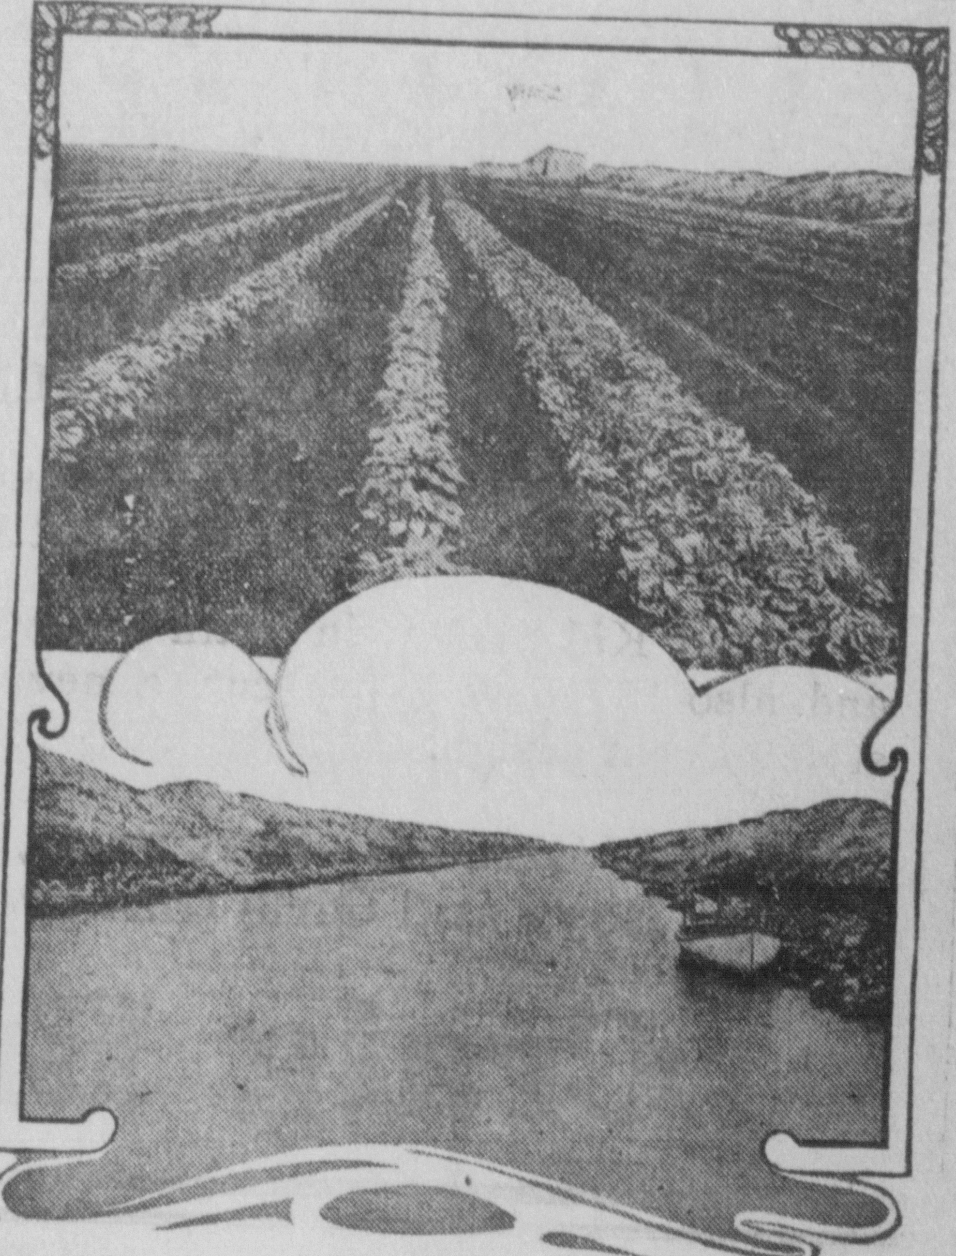

Death closed a career that gave great promise in aerial accomplishment. Though only 19, he had flown in Europe and America and held the record as the first to cross the Rocky mountains in an aeroplane. This feat was accomplished Saturday and he received a purse of $1000 in recognition of his exploit.

Dixon's machine was caught in an adverse current of air, which turned it on its side. The lad gamely attempted to right his aeroplane and shouted to spectators at the interstate fair grounds, before whom he was flying, "Here I go; here I go."

Efforts to regain control of the machine were unavailing, and he was dashed 100 feet into a rocky railroad cut. Unconscious he was picked up and rushed to a hospital, but medical aid failed to prolong his life more than a few moments. Injuries consisted of a fractured skull, a broken right leg and a shattered collar bone. A portion of the collar bone protruded through the flesh.

Ashtabula, O., Oct. 3.—A thousand men will tomorrow begin to circulate petitions asking for a vote on prohibition. They hope to get 2500 signatures. Ashtabula has been dry for three years. Liquor interests expect to center their fight in Ashtabula county.

Florida Is Draining Everglades With Canals to Cost $4,000,000

THE state of Florida is making rapid progress draining the famous Everglades by canals extending from Lake Okeechobee in each direction to the sea. When the entire system of canals is completed there will be one canal to the west coast and three to the east. These canals will have a depth of from eight to ten feet and will be used for transportation as well as drainage. They will also serve to irrigate adjoining land when necessary. The Everglades formerly belonged to the United States, but were turned over to Florida on that state's agreement to drain the land and open it to settlement. The soil is extremely rich and is covered with rank grass. The United States senate has recently ordered that a report of the progress of draining the Everglades be printed as a part of the record showing what has been done toward conservation. This report, known as senate document 89, can be obtained by interested persons on application to the senators or representatives. The picture above shows a section of the Lauderdale canal which has been completed and a field that has been drained and is now growing lettuce and beans.

INTO CAUSES OF AUSTIN HORROR

Prison Sentence For Man Smuggler

New York Milliner Weeps as He Starts for Island.

New York, Oct. 3.—Abraham Lichtenstein, treasurer of the Lichtenstein Millinery company, was sentenced by United States Judge Hough to four months imprisonment on Blackwell's Island and a fine of $1 for long-continued smuggling, for which the concern has already paid $120,000 to Uncle Sam. The company is one of the biggest millinery importing concerns in this city. Lichtenstein was startled at the outcome. He had been confident that he would be obliged merely to pay a fine. He wept when handcuffed to a deputy marshal for the trip to Blackwell's Island.

He had pleaded guilty of undervaluation and conspiracy. He is regarded as the principal in the famous "sleeper trunk" smuggling conspiracy which troubled the customs authorities about two years ago, and which implicated several customs employees on bribery charges.

Columbus, O., Oct. 3.—Charles Justice will be electrocuted at the penitentiary just after Thursday midnight for the murder of John Shoup, a farmer he killed near Xenia in the fall of 1910 when surprised by Shoup stealing his chickens. Governor Harmon refused to interfere Monday. Justice has been reprieved three times and granted two stays of execution, but the pardon board has refused to recommend clemency.

Governor Wants to Know Why Big Dam Broke.

LONG KNOWN TO BE UNSAFE

Designer Says That if His Suggestions Had Been Carried Out Austin Catastrophe Would Have Been Averted—Latest Figures, Based on Census Count of Living by Enumerators Places Total Number of Dead at Less Than 100.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 3.—Upon his return to the capital, Governor Tener at once started an investigation of the disaster at Austin, Pa., caused by the breaking of the dam of the Bayless Pulp and Manufacturing company Saturday. According to the governor, he is not sure if there is a state law governing the construction of big dams and specifying their location in relation to the location of villages and towns, but if the attorney general finds such a law, prosecution will likely be made. Governor Tener declared that if no such law is found, a bill will be introduced at the next session of the legislature.

It is known that for over a year the shadow of disaster has hung over the little town. At that time serious defects were discovered in the dam. An investigation was made and then Chalkley Matton, designer of the structure, recommended certain repairs. Matton now claims that if his recommendations had been carried out, Saturday's catastrophe could never have occurred.

Everett Van Wert, New York manager of the Emporium Lumber company, owners of the dam, admits that a year ago the company officials knew Trouble Occurs at Houston, Tex., When Train Is Unloaded. Houston, Tex., Oct. 3.—One strike-breaker, name unknown, dead; another, S. D. Crockett of Athens, Tex., shot and seriously wounded; Gordon Knight of Athens, also a strike-breaker, badly cut and bruised and Captain S. D. Sisk, special guard, battered, is the net result of a melee that followed the disembarkation of a number of strike-breakers brought from New Orleans to replace employees in the Houston shops of the Harriman lines, now on strike.

Milwaukee, Oct. 3.—With charges before it that United States Senator Isaac Stephenson of Wisconsin secured his election on March 4, 1909, by means of bribery and other corrupt use of money, the subcommittee of the committee on privileges and elections of the United States senate formally began its sessions here. Senator Stephenson was summoned to be the first witness.

The charges against Stephenson are in brief that a large part of the $111,385 he spent for his election was improperly used. The charges were presented to the committee by John J. Laine, who said "various sums were paid to electors of the state corruptly and unlawfully."

United States Senator Isaac Stephenson testified that, although he spent $107,793 in his campaign, he had little knowledge as to just how it was spent, except that it was not used in violation of the law. The details, he said, he had left to his campaign managers.

REGULAR MEETING OF COUNCIL QUORUM LACKING AGAIN NO DEFINITE ACTION TAKEN

Citizens and Y. M. C. A. Committee Not Heard

SEWER MATTER STILL TANGLED

Sudden Motion to Adjourn Stops Mayor's Talk—Meet Again Thursday.

The regular session of the City Council was held Monday night, but no business of importance was transacted because of the absence of one or two councilmen, and the meeting resulted in nothing. Several matters of business which probably would have received attention if a full working force had been present, were postponed.

Council opened with Members Rothrock, Veail, McLellan, Smith and Hopkins present, and President B. H. Millikan presiding. Member E. J. Light was out of the city on business, and Member Goodwin did not appear. Members of the Y. M.

C. A. committee were present for the purpose of obtaining action on the Market street sewer which has been at a standstill for nearly three weeks last past.

The first business considered was the report from Solicitor Rankin as to the legality of the city park in the English addition. Solicitor Rankin stated that a suit as to the title to certain property in the English addition was now pending in the Common Pleas court, and would probably be settled this winter, and he promised to look after the city's interest in connection with the park.

No action was taken on the Chestnut street improvement, and this was allowed to go over until later.

Attorney D. L. Thompson was among the citizens present, and called council's attention to the Ireland sewer east of Lewis street, which drains the addition in which Mr. Thompson is interested. Mr. Thompson stated that as a number of houses were to be erected upon the new addition that he desired to ascertain council's attitude in regard to extending the Ireland sewer.

It developed that this matter was brought up last spring, and that at that time it was virtually agreed that if the County Commissioners would take up the project of building the sewer, or drain, after the city had constructed it to the corporation line, that it would be put in. The affair ended by Mr. Thompson being requested to see Prosecuting Attorney Pope Gregg, who was interested in the proposed construction of the sewer last spring, and the matter will be gone into in detail later.

While taking a rest awaiting the arrival of another councilman so that the regular business could be conducted, Solicitor Rankin jokingly remarked that if the law was enforced and when a member was absent, the authorities refuse to pay his salary for the nights he was absent, it might have the effect of putting an end to habitual non-attendance. Member Rothrock replied that if the law was enforced, it might cause council to knife the solicitor's salary next year.

The project of locating a water main in the Pavey addition came up, and council thought the Service Director had full power to proceed in the matter of placing the water main.

After this the Market street sewer hitch was brought up by reading a report of conditions, made out by Mayor Allen on September 14th, and which was to have been read at the special meeting two weeks ago, but a quorum was lacking. Upon motion by Rothrock the report was "accepted and placed on file."

Member Rothrock then stated that the Y. M. C. A. committee had approached the Market Street Sewer committee from council, regarding the completion of the sewer, and that the committee had informed the Y. M. C. A. committee that if Mayor Allen and Service Director Anders would recommend how to proceed in regard to the market street sewer, and have an ordinance prepared, that council would then consider it.

Solicitor Rankin stated that he had no such ordinance prepared because he did not know what council wanted, and could not prepare such an ordinance until he did know.

As soon as this statement was made Rothrock said that if the necessary ordinance was prepared, that council would pass most anything to have the thing settled, and made a sudden motion to adjourn. This was seconded by McLellan, and when Mayor Allen hastily arose to offer some suggestion or information, Rothrock called for the motion, the mayor took his seat, and adjournment was taken without further delay, much to the surprise of the citizens present, and members of the Y. M. C. A. committee who filed out of the room with a hurt expression upon their faces.

Regarding the shifting of responsibility upon the shoulders of the Service Director and Mayor Allen, in connection with the sewer extension, both declare it is not for them to provide the funds, but to use the funds after they are provided, and Service Director Anders vehemently stated during an interview, that "if council does not provide the money necessary to finish the sewer, it can never be finished."

Adjournment was taken until Thursday night.

Foreclosure Suit Filed in Court

A foreclosure suit was filed in the Common Pleas Court Saturday afternoon, in which John F. Harper seeks the foreclosure of a mortgage on an automobile and two horses, the defendants being Wilbur and Alma Thornton.

The suit grows out of a promissory note executed May 20th, in the sum of $350, and payable August 15th. One credit of $100 was made on the note, and Mr. Harper now asks that the auto and horses be sold and $250 paid him in order to cancel the debt.

ECHO OF WOLFE CASE BAINBRIDGE MAN ONCE MORE IN LIMELIGHT

This Time Contempt of Court is Charged

TAKEN FROM PLEASURE PARTY

By Scioto County Sheriff on Complaint of Mother of His Children.

An echo of the sensational case in Bainbridge, wherein Elmer E. Wolfe, agent of the D. T. & I. railroad at that place, was involved, has come to light, and Wolfe, the star character in the case, has again been hauled into the courts for his conduct.

Nearly all citizens of Washington and Fayette county are more or less familiar with the case from the extensive newspaper notoriety given it at the time, and will be interested in the following latest development appearing in the Chillicothe Gazette: "Several years ago, Elmer E. Wolfe, a Paxton township farmer, became involved with two women, one of whom he married because of the claim of paternity launched against him, and the other of whom he had trouble with, by reason of alleged threatened breach of promise. The matter was temporarily adjusted by Wolfe marrying one woman, who hailed from Portsmouth, and who subsequently bore him a child. She did not long live with him however, and returned to her Portsmouth home, upon his promise to contribute to the support of the child. It seems that for some reason or other, Wolfe, about two years ago, stopped the contributions and he was hauled into court and an order was therefore issued for him to pay two dollars a week for the child's support. This order it seems, he obeyed for a time, and then again he lapsed into carelessness.

Mrs. Wolfe went to Bainbridge last week, to see if she could not do something which would bring the recalcitrant father to his senses, but she failed so she took the matter before the Scioto county court, and Sunday the sheriff of Scioto came after him and took him away from a pleasure party, and carried him off to Portsmouth, where he was called into court, on a charge of contempt of the court's orders. Wolfe took the matter coolly, and adjusted his differences as well as he might."

Rev. Locke Returned

The Ohio Conference of the M. E. church, held in Newark, closed last night after a session of remarkable interest.

The general shake-up made by Bishop Cranston will change church relations all over the state and the appointments have been awaited with intense interest.

It was with great satisfaction that Grace church learned of the re-appointment of Rev. T. W. Locke as pastor. Not alone are Rev. Locke's parishioners gratified that they are to retain their beloved pastor. A strong man, warm in his sympathies, in touch with affairs in the broad sense and unsparring in his zeal for the best interests of the entire town, the entire community desired to retain Rev. Locke in our town and it would have been a matter of the utmost regret had the bishop failed to re-appoint him.

Among other appointments in this county are: Rev. W. J. Jewett, Bloomingburg; Rev. G. H. Creamer, Good Hope; Rev. T. L. Hass, Jeffersonville; Rev. O. F. McKay, Milledgeville; Rev. W. E. Pryor, New Holland.

Rev. H. B. Lewis, whose success in the ministry has been watched with pleasure by many Washington friends, receives one of the best appointments in the conference, the Madison Avenue church, of Columbus. Rev. N. D. Creamer, brother of Mrs. S. E. Parrett, of this city, is given the South High street, Columbus, charge.

Prof. W. W. Davies, of the O. W. U., is one of the members of St. Paul's quarterly conference, and Rev. W. H. Lewis is continued as superintendent of the Protestant hospital. Rev. I. F. King, another of Washington's former pastors, is appointed financial agent Ohio Wesleyan university.

Rev. J. C. Arbuckle receives the appointment of superintendent of the Lancaster district, headquarters in Columbus, and Rev. A. H. Norcross, superintendent of the Zanesville district, Rev. F. McElfresh, also remembered as a former pastor of Grace M. E. church, is continued in the Sunday school training school, Grace church quarterly conference.

If the plan set up by the Ohio Conference of the Methodist church works out, pastors of the more wealthy churches will be assessed to help pay their ministerial brothers who are drawing too small salaries.

As a result of a discussion along this movement, Rev. A. M. Courtney, of Zanesville; Rev. H. B. Lewis and Rev. L. I. Hart, of Columbus, were appointed a committee to investigate the wealth of all the churches in the conference and to report next year.

The plan is to increase the salaries of all married men receiving less than $800 a year, and single men receiving less than $500 to these figures and to make the pastors who receive more than these amounts foot the bills. One-half of one percent would be paid by better-salaried ministers and 2 per cent. by their churches.

The Columbus pastors generally oppose the plan. They say it lacks business principles and that many country churches could increase salaries without the help of their city brethren.

Next year's conference will be held in the First church of Columbus. It will be the Centennial celebration and will be a notable occasion in the M. E. church of the state.

Grand Jury Busy

The grand jury is still in session, and will probably continue over until tomorrow some time. From all indications the jury is the most busy of any for a long time, and many new cases may probably come to light when their labors are finished. A large number of witnesses have been called in, and the court house presents a scene of unusual activity.

The grand jury usually finishes its work the first day, and it is an extraordinary occurrence where the work is continued over the second day.

New York, Oct. 3.—Nathan Allen, the leather manufacturer of Kenosha, Wis., who was indicted by a federal grand jury for smuggling jewelry, was sentenced by Judge Hough in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court to pay a fine of $12,000. John R. Collins of Memphis, president of the Southern Coal company, indicted for various smuggling crimes, was fined $4,000. The fines were paid to Commissioner Shields immediately. Allen and Collins escaped prison sentences because Judge Hough was unwilling to class them with persons who have made a business of defrauding the government.

Old State Dam Is Dynamited

The old state dam across the Scioto river in Pickaway county, constructed in 1832 for the purpose of affording a proper level for the canal which was in use at that time, has been dynamited under instructions from the State Board of Public Works, and within the next few months will be entirely removed, causing a considerable drop in the river level.

For years this dam has caused an overflow, and it is believed that with its removal the farm lands along the river will be greatly benefited.

Petition Filed For Merger Of Local Phones

A petition was filed with the State Public Service Commission Monday, for the privilege of merging the Washington Home Telephone Company's plant with that of the Bell Telephone Plant in this city and county, the petition being filed by officials of the Company which has control of the Washington system.

When the Service Commission decides to take the matter up it will then be considered and some action taken, and according to reports this action will be taken soon, probably at the instigation of a petition from local citizens for relief, or possibly from the Attorney General, Timothy S. Hogan himself.

This latter is highly probable, and General Hogan, who was in this city Monday and had such a taste of the kind of service rendered by the Citizen plant, that he will not soon forget it.

Mr. Hogan placed a call for a party while in this city, and although he made repeated efforts to get his party, failed to receive connection for a considerable length of time, and became thoroughly disgusted with the attempt to reach his party.

Hearing that petitions were about to be circulated for the purpose of obtaining some kind of reasonable service, Mr. Hogan exclaimed: "Tell them that their cause has not been hurt any by my experience here today!"

Further developments are expected within a short time.

The Eight Unequaled numbers composing the big Washington Lecture Course for this winter will afford a great deal of highly interesting and instructive entertainment for the citizens of Washington. It's the best course ever offered. Six hundred season tickets only will be sold.

CUT OUT THE BON FIRE.

When the leaves begin to fall as they have a habit of doing, every year about this time, all good house-holders begin to make disposition of them in some manner or other.

For years and years, the custom has been to gather the fallen leaves all up in several neat piles, or one huge pile and set fire to them.

This custom of burning the leaves probably had its inception in the incentive the bon fire held out to the small boys and girls of the family, especially the former, who would cheerfully perform the manual labor of raking the lawn and sweeping the walks free of the unsightly leaves, forgetting the solid drudgery of it all in the anticipation of the bon fire or "barn fire" as most of them familiarly call it.

Where is the boy or girl who does not delight in watching the blazing pile of leaves in the crisp air of the ideal evenings of October and where are the grown-ups who do not revel in the memory of the days when they were not too big to dance around the fire as free young savages, which most of us are unless we hold ourselves and our primitive desires in check in order to the accomplishment of better things.

Grown people, while secretly enjoying the fall bon fires have always felt that it was hardly the proper thing for them to give vent to the primitive instinct and without knowing the reason why have restrained themselves, allowing the bon fire the work of preparation and the pleasure which accompanies its blaze, to descend to the younger generations.

Now, of late years, science has come forward in no uncertain, hesitating manner and has condemned the bon fire of leaves as a positive menace to health.

In the order of the authorities, based on scientific pronouncement that the custom of burning leaves and rubbish is injurious to the health of those who participate and to the residents of the whole section where the fire is permitted, may be found the reason for older people, having denied themselves that feature of the fall pastimes.

All over the nation the stamp of disapproval has been placed on the bon fire.

That it is certainly as evil in its effect on the public health as its smoke is annoying and offensive, there is no longer any doubt.

In the autumn the atmosphere is heavy and the thick smoke which rolls in immense columns from the piles of damp leaves, saturated with germs of malaria and fever, with it is carried the poison which engenders and aggravates all sorts of throat and lung troubles.

The orders of the Board of Health forbidding the burning of leaves in the streets of the city should be observed by all people who know from sad experience the evil consequence to health which follows their disobedience.

For those, who in utter disregard of the rights of others, persist or permit those too young to realize the danger to their own and others health, to indulge, in a practice which has been tabooed, the extreme penalty which follows a violation of the law, should be visited.

People have been warned time and time again of the evil effect of the bon fire and of the law forbidding it and there exists no good excuse for violation of the law.

Happily in this city there has been during the last few years little cause for complaint as the law has been pretty generally observed, but for fear there should be any inclination to disregard the law's commands or any lurking belief that the law would not be rigidly enforced, the warning is again given by the authorities.

Obey the law. Do it for your own sake, to avoid the penalty of the law, even if you have no regard for the rights and the health and comfort of others.

Whoever disobeys the command will smart in more ways than one and in more places than the eyes and throat.

Ancient Idea of Real Home is Passing

By N. K. KILBERG

"I am going home," was the remark made to me by a friend and I immediately responded by asking: "Where is your home?" And the reply came: "In a flat building." But homes are few and flats are many.

The old idea of a real home is fast disappearing. Clearly, the change has come to stay; it may be worse as time goes by, but improvement is beyond hope.

What is the remedy? Simply to make the best of the situation instead of the worst.

The wife of my friend was reared in an old-fashioned home, while today she presides over a modern flat of six rooms. Her nature is conciliatory, while that of her neighbor in the next flat is domineering.

They are comparative strangers, but the spirit of the latter soon discovered the meekness of my friend's wife. "My home is this little flat," she said to the writer, "is a full quarter-section of eternal hades, but what can I do? We have moved three times already on account of unneighborly neighbors, but the change has been for the worse instead of the better. The whole trouble appears to lie in the fact that many people forget that the cheapest form of displaying wisdom is to find fault."

POETRY FOR TODAY

AN OLD BOOK.

"The Christian Hymn and Tune Book"—memories sweet its pages bring

As I turn them, old and yellowed by the flight of passing years. Good old Zion songs my mother loved to sit and softly sing

With a faith that never faltered and that banished doubts and fears.

Old and worn, its faded pages bring back days of long ago

When the faithful few would gather in the mid-week-hour of prayer;

And their voices joined together in a chorus soft and low—

"When we hear the music ringing," and "There'll be no parting there."

Through the tear-haze that has gathered I can see my father turn

To the "evening lesson, brethren;" hear him read in reverent tone

From the Book of Books before him lessons that he loved to learn

As adown life's path he traveled, knowing he walked not alone.

I can see their dear old faces all alight with Christian joy

As arose the songs of Zion on the mid-week evening's air;

Songs of hope that cheered them onward, songs of faith without alloy—

"On the mountain's top appearing," "Jesus saves," "Sweet hour of prayer."

"He leadeth me!" I heard my mother sing it with a faith divine

As she drew near to the valley and the shadow of the vale.

"Blessed thought"—she never faltered—"I'm my Lord's and he is mine!"

For she knew the arm that held her was an arm that never failed.

Singing low and singing softly, she could see with lifted eyes

Through all clouds that gathered 'round her as the long years passed away.

Mansions that her God had builded in His house beyond the skies

"In the Christian's home in glory" where there shines eternal day.

Dear old book, your faded pages bring back days of long ago;

Days of youth and days of play-time when the skies were always fair.

Bring again the sound of voices singing sweet and singing low

Songs of hope and faith to cheer me on to that "Home over there."

Sweet old songs; your echoes ringing down the vista of the years

Cheer me ever on and upward as my heart with rapture thrills;

And I know my brother waits me far beyond the doubts and fears.

"When the mists have rolled in splendor from the summit of the hills."

—Will M. Maupin in The Commoner.

Lincoln Hears President

The president spoke on peace. He showed more heat in his speech than he has in any other speech. He spoke longer than the schedule permitted and worried some of his guardians, who feared he might mix up the schedule. After he realized the same, he told his audience that he knew that he had spoken longer than he had a right to, because he could always tell how long he has talked by how hot he became, and he retired from the platform mopping his brow.

Mr. Taft showed considerable contempt toward the attitude of several senators who profess a desire to use arbitration to wipe out wars and then shrink at the prospect of binding this country to abide by the verdict of an arbitration board. He said:

"We are big enough, even if we should be insulted by anybody, to do just what a great, strong man does when he is insulted under conditions where he can restrain himself at all. He holds himself and says, 'I am a greater man because I can resist the temptation to fling your pusillanimous body.'"

Ovington to Carry Mail.
Washington, Oct. 3.—When Earl L. If Ovington is successful in making the trip he will deliver one package of letters into the hands of the postmaster at Chicago and the other to the postmaster at Los Angeles.

Announce State Games.
Cincinnati, Oct. 3.—The national commission has issued a bulletin covering the arrangements for the state championship series between the Cincinnati and Cleveland clubs. The first two games will be played in Cincinnati Oct. 10 and 11. Games are scheduled for Cleveland on Oct. 12, 14, 15 and 16. If a seventh game is necessary the selection of the grounds will be made by the contesting teams, with the consent of the commission.

No Limit to Expenditures.
Columbus, O., Oct. 3.—Sums of money without limit may be expended by the committees in a local option liquor election, according to a ruling made by Attorney General Hogan. The provisions of the corrupt practices act limiting the amount of money which may be used in furthering the election of any candidate to public office does not apply to any proposition submitted to a vote of the people, according to the attorney general.

and describes how the Italian warships came boldly up within range of the Turkish ships.

Puts Crimp in Story.
The Turkish naval attaché at London somewhat dims the luster of these victories by pointing out that, with the exception of a couple of cruisers and four destroyers, none of which figured in the battle with the Duke of Abruzzi, Turkey has not a single ship that would be fit to stand up to a modern vessel of war. For the last few years, according to the Turkish attaché, owing to the troubles on the coast of Albania, the Turkish government kept three or four small torpedo boats there to prevent smuggling. They were of from 140 to 160 tons each and were built for Turkey in Italian shipyards. They were not destroyers and were never intended for active service in time of war. Their heaviest guns were one-pounders.

It would appear from this that the reported naval engagement was between the Italian naval squadron and a few vessels of no fighting value.

Austria Sends Warning Note.
Vienna, Oct. 3.—The Italian ambassador has been curtly informed by the Austrian authorities that should Italy attempt again to land troops in Albania that Austria will send warships to that coast and regard Italy's action as unfriendly. It is also stated that the Italian ambassador at St. Petersburg has been warned by the Russian government that the present conflict must be confined to Tripoli, or otherwise Russia will take drastic action. The Italian press is reported as furious at the reported interference on the part of Russia.

Two Young Aeronauts Are Making Experiments

On the Irwin Boggs farm in Pick-away county, two young men, one from New York and the other from Philadelphia, are experimenting upon a new model aeroplane which was shipped from the east to the Boggs farm a few days ago, and which is now ready for the initial flight when the weather clears.

A great deal of mystery surrounds the movements of the two youngsters who are conducting their experiments as secretly as possible, it is claimed. The appearance of the men has caused a sensation throughout the countryside, and many and varied are the conjectures as to just what the two aeronauts are going to do.

Horsethief Escapes Six Steers Killed Trail Still Warm By D. T. & I. Freight

The man who stole the horse and buggy from the W. E. Reynolds farm Friday night, is still at large, and his capture is now a question, as the Circleville, Lancaster and other papers have given much publicity to the event, and the fellow may be far away, although this is hardly thought probable.

At Circleville where the horse was sold, he gave the name of Frank Everhart, and had a check cashed under this name, although there seems little question that the name was assumed.

At Lancaster, where it is reported he was seen as late as ten o'clock Monday morning, he disappeared, and so far no trace has been found of him, so that Deputy Sheriff O. Nelson returned Tuesday morning without his man. He had been seen there, but not arrested, as report had it.

Everything to apprehend the fellow that can be done has been carried out, and news of his arrest at any time is expected.

A D. T. & I. freight train ran into a bunch of cattle belonging to Logan Dingus, of near Good Hope Sunday night, and six steers weighing nearly 900 pounds each were killed outright, entailing upon Mr. Dingus a very heavy loss.

The steers had broken through the fence and were upon the right of way, and the heavy freight was so close upon them as they attempted to cross the track, that the engine could not be stopped until the cattle had met death.

How the engine kept from leaving the rails is a mystery, as some of the steers were badly mutilated.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

Washington C. H. loses one of her attractive younger girls in the marriage of Miss Iola Dick, only daughter of Mrs. Dora Dick, to Mr. Charles Cleaveland, of Chicago, at the home of the bride, Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock.

The bride is an accomplished pianist, a graduate of the Stinson Conservatory and a former member of the Conservatory faculty, so that she will be missed in musical circles as well as in the coterie of young people, with whom she has been a favorite.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cleaveland, of Greenfield, and the grandson of Mrs. Mary Cleaveland of this city. He is a bright young fellow with prospects for a successful career in his chosen profession of civil engineering.

The home was exquisitely decorated in white and green by Mrs. Buck, the florist.

The young couple stood beneath a canopy of ferns and white carnations with the wedding rings pendant overhead from fairy baskets.

Rev. T. W. Locke, of Grace church, performed the double ring ceremony, during which Miss Lulu Patton played "The Rosary" softly.

There were no guests except the immediate families. The bridegroom's parents coming up from Greenfield.

The bride looked extremely pretty in a suit of brown corduroy, with waist of ivory marquisette over pale blue, and hat ensuite.

Immediately after the simple ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Cleaveland left for their new home in Chicago. A cosily furnished flat is completely in readiness for them.

Burns Fatal To Miss Irvine

After lingering almost one week, suffering untold agony from burns received while she was burning paper and her clothes caught fire, Miss Ethel Clare Irvine, the 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Irvine, of Bloomingburg, passed away at her home in that place at 2:15 Tuesday morning, after making a hard fight for life with the odds against her from the first, owing to the extent of her injuries.

The end came peacefully after the young lady had endured the most excruciating pain for a solid week, bringing great sadness upon her host of close friends, and filling the hearts of her parents and other close kinfolk with a sorrow too great for words to express, notwithstanding that they had almost given up hope of their loved one's recovery several days before death relieved her sufferings.

Funeral services will be held at the Methodist Episcopal church in Bloomingburg, Thursday morning at 10:00 o'clock, after which the remains will be interred in the Bloomingburg cemetery.

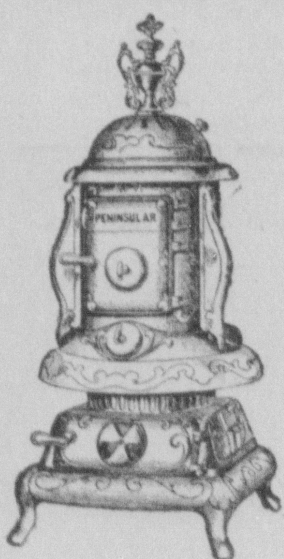

Two Points

to be considered in buying your stove this fall.

First. See that the stove you buy is made by a concern that has a reputation of building good stoves; a firm that will not be out of business should you ever want repairs.

Don't buy of a concern whose only aim is to get your money
Second. Don't buy a stove expecting it to heat three or four rooms when it was intended to heat only one.

WHEN YOU BUY OF US we find out first how much space you want to heat, conditions, etc., and then endeavor to sell you a stove suitable for that purpose. We feel better about it. You will be our customer again.

Two young men that were old enough to know better decided to be detectives. Did they "detect." Well rather. But pretty Dorothy's father nipped their ambitions. Yes, it is comedy.

Cement Rock Blasting

The climax of this industrial picture is the setting off of 8½ tons of high explosive, blasting out 50 tons of rock. The entire blasting process is interestingly shown.

Can Tell Their Woes

Pen Probers Will Hear From Discharged Employees.

Columbus, O., Oct. 3.—In the office of the attorney general this morning, Special Counsel Charles Marshall opened the inquiry into affairs at the state penitentiary. Most of the eight officials who have been discharged from the pen for one cause or another during the last few weeks, appeared in the role of prosecuting witnesses against the present pen management. By so doing they hope to get their own defenses before the public.

Glanders Appear Horses Are Shot

Glanders have put in appearance among the horses on the Martin Moore farm in Champaign county, and as a result six fine horses have been killed by State Veterinarian, Paul Fischer, and the state will pay for the animals.

This disease, which is contagious and incurable, is easily contracted by human beings, and for this reason drastic measures are taken to prevent its spread.

A careful watch is being kept by the state authorities, and if the disease spreads, a strict quarantine will go into effect which may reach even to this city as it did a few years ago when we had the last scare from glanders.

FORCED TO LEAVE HOME.

Its surely the king of all cough and lung cures." Thousands owe their lives and health to it. It's positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, La-Grippe, Asthma, Croup—all Throat and Lung troubles. 50c & $1.00. A trial bottle free at Blackmer & Tanquary.

Dog Was Mad Three Bitten

A mad dog made its appearance in Circleville Friday, and attached a number of persons, and a score of dogs, biting three people and many dogs before its career was ended.

Two of the persons bitten were children, the third being a Mrs. Smallwood. The dog's head was sent to Columbus for examination, and Dr. C. O. Probst pronounced the disease a case of genuine rabies. All three persons bitten will be given treatment at once.

Tonsils and Adenoids.
Enlarged tonsils and adenoid growths are symptoms of a catarrhal condition of the body due to faulty diet and cutting them away does not remove the cause, asserts a leading practitioner, adding that the extirpation of tonsils, as of any other necessary organ, always is followed by bad results. The tonsils should never be removed, he says, unless they have been permitted to deteriorate so far as to become more of a menace to health than would be their removal. Throat specialists' opinions on this subject differed at a meeting in Philadelphia, and a committee was named to make an exhaustive report on the question in 1912.

Here are the Five Great Coffee Blends —the right Blend to Suit Each Taste

Here are the Five Blends—under the one family name of Golden Sun Coffee, each with a distinctive character in flavor and aroma. Choose yours.

Having the largest coffee business in the country, we long ago shouldered the responsibility of classifying the varying tastes for coffee. After a generation of study, research and experiment our experts are ready for you—you and the four others—each with a personal palate for coffee.

Your best cup of coffee is in one of these blends. Perhaps our lowest priced Blend will make your ideal cup of coffee. The Blend is the thing.

The point is that we start to make your cup of coffee nearer to nature than any other coffee house ever has. Our control of plantation outputs guarantees uniformity.

The expertness of our blenders and roasters, with us for over twenty years, guarantees flavor to your taste and our air-tight, hygienic package guarantees cleanliness, purity and full strength. We pack all Golden Sun Coffee at the critical moment between too little and too much roasting—whole bean in packages—steel cut in cans.

Beware of the stale, dusty coffee kept in open bins and the job-lot, hit-and-miss stuff sold by irresponsible peddlers. These no more compare to Golden Sun Coffee than the pulp of an orange compares to the juice.

Your grocer will tell you how true these coffee facts are. He will show you the five different blends and the Golden Sun Table of Tastes so you can select your particular blend and have at last your own kind of coffee dependable every week. Tear out your description and package as a reminder for your coffee order.

If you are in the habit of ordering your coffee ground, be sure and get STEEL CUT Golden Sun in cans and have it properly cut—not ground.

Your Best Cup of Coffee is in one of these Blends

EPIDEMIC IS THREATENED

Fear That Austin's Water Supply Is Contaminated.

Austin, Pa., Oct. 3.—That not more than 100 persons lost their lives in the flood of Saturday is the latest estimate given out. Two census enumerators went through the town from one end to the other, and they could find just 85 persons who were not accounted for. State Health Commissioner Dixon based his estimate upon the visits of these officials through the houses of 84 families. In addition to the missing ones, though, it is certain that there were strangers in town. The hotels, and there were three of them, always had drummers in their lobbies, for the town of Austin was a good buying center. Saturday was market day, too, and the sides of the main street were lined with wagons. How many of these strangers are under the tangled heap that marks the site of the main street, cannot be told.

In the lodge rooms upstairs sat Dr. Dixon with his many assistants, planning and revising the campaign of caring for the homeless and preventing an outbreak of disease. It is the subject of water supply which the authorities have concerned themselves. The town received its drinking water from a number of springs and wells upon the hillside above. Dr. Dixon has posted notices throughout Austin warning the survivors not to use this water. The corps of engineers, under State Sanitary Engineer Snow, has been tracing the supply of every house left standing. It is feared that the contamination of the flood waters may bring a fresh disaster to the wrecked town.

Frank and George Bayless, the heads of the concern that owned the dam, have been expected in town, but word came that they were confined to their beds in Binghamton, N. Y., where the company has its chief offices, as a result of the shock of the disaster.
